Jehovah's Witnesses mill around in water off New York's Orchard Beach yesterday awaiting their turn to be baptized. More than 7,000 Witnesses were dipped during day-long mass ceremony. Immersion

Presentation to Princess Stirs Storm

Why Not an Orphan Girl?

TORONTO (CP)—Princess Margaret flew into Toronto Wednesday night for a 6½-day visit to Ontario.

A crowd estimated by police at 17,000 to 20,000 persons thronged the area about nearby Malton airport when her four-engine RCAF C-54 plane touched down at 8:27 p.m. after a 5½-hour flight from Prince Albert, Sask.

(See Page 25 for further stories.)

The princess stared soberly and intently out of a window as the plane taxied up the landing strip. Her face broke into a winning smile as she stepped out of the plane.

Before the princess arrived a storm blew up in Toronto over plans for presenting her with a bouquet of a new type of rose named in her honor.

The controversy involved Mayor Nathan Phillips' choice of his wife to present the bouquet of hybrid tea roses, a new variety called Princess No. 54-381, to Margaret in a ceremony at the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand today.

Mrs. Phillips was selected because the mayor's first choice, his granddaughter, is away on vacation. Reeve Marie Curtis of suburban Long Branch objected.

"Even if his own granddaughter is away, there are controllers and representatives of city council with little girls," she said.

"And if he didn't want any of these, why couldn't he get a little orphan girl? It would be like a Cinderella story."

The pilot, Wing Cmdr. W. K. Carr, said it was a smooth flight in clear weather all the way from Prince Albert, Sask., where the plane took off at 1:03 p.m. (CST). The plane flew at 13,000 feet.

Transport Minister Hees and his wife greeted the princess as she stepped from the plane. She met Lieutenant Governor J. K. Bell, Premier and Mrs. Mackay, and Mrs. Mary F. of Toronto Township, in which Malton lies; Warden Cyril Clark of Peel County and Mrs. Clark.

Mrs. Fix presented a bouquet to the princess who wore a yellow dress, yellow shoes, a small yellow hat and a fur stole. Deputy Police Chief Robert Kerr of Metropolitan Toronto, who provided the crowd estimate, had 70 motorcycle police in the area handling traffic. His total force numbered 200 constables and 300 members of the reserve army also were on hand.

Of the crowd which swarmed into the area, probably 2,000 on the airport roof and other vantage points had a chance to see the plane land after it dropped down at about dusk.

The Princess boarded the 11-car royal train on which she will travel in Ontario and the train pulled away to another siding where she will spend the night.

South Dakota U.S. 'Centre'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The geographic centre of the United States will shift from Lebanon, Kan., to Butte County, S.D., when Alaska becomes a state. Rear-Admiral H. Arnold Karo, director of the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, Wednesday gave out the computation, the first shift since the present geographic centre was figured out about 40 years ago.

Trujillo Plot Uncovered

MIAMI (UPI)—A plot to overthrow the tight-fisted rule of President Rafael Trujillo in the Dominican Republic was unraveled in a hearing yesterday before a U.S. commissioner.

Commissioner Roger E. Davis set bonds of $1,000 and $500 on 15 former Dominican Republic residents, now living in the United States, and on one American "soldier of fortune."

They were arrested at the Miami airport with a plane-load of munitions, weapons and supplies.

RIFLES, GRENADES Agents said the arms were being loaded from a rented truck on to a C-46 plane. Customs agent Charles Wyatt said there were enough rifles, machine guns and hand grenades to arm an expeditionary force of 15 men.

All but one of the 16 men, including American pilot Herbert "Tommy" Walker, were freed on bond, Jose Mason, 33, was held by immigration authorities for alleged illegal entry into the U.S.

HAITI UPRISING Meanwhile, the Haitian army said yesterday that two former Dade County (Fla.) deputies were among those killed in the bloody Haitian uprising Monday. Four other deputies, also reported involved and who backed out of the scheme, may face possible federal charges.

President Francois Duvalier's regime is in full control of Haiti following the abortive revolt, but the situation remained tense, reports reaching here said.

UNDER CURFEW Strict censorship was in effect in Haiti, and the republic was under a curfew, the reports said.

Reports said scores of Haitians were arrested as a result of the uprising against Duvalier's nine-month-old government. At least 10 persons were killed and many others wounded when army forces loyal to the regime crushed the uprising.

OFFICERS BLAMED The Haitian government claimed three former army officers set off the revolt in an attempt to restore to power former president Paul Magloire, who was overthrown by a coup in 1956 and now lives in exile in New York. Magloire, in New York, denied it.

she found herself in a position to start a full-scale war. "The cards are the same now—but in different hands." It was no use merely waiting for the Soviet system to break down through internal disorders because this will take a long time. Mr. MacPhee said economic interdependence must be able to lead in the economic field when exist with political independence.

FIRES 'HOPELESS' OUT OF CONTROL

Forestry Officials Despair

An acrid pall of smoke clouded British Columbia skies yesterday as hundreds of raging forest fires raced out of control in a situation forestry officials described as "hopeless."

Near Butte Lake a tent camp used by forest service and company men was destroyed yesterday as a 4,000-acre blaze, previously reported "out," whipped through the virgin timber of Strathcona Park.

DOING EVERYTHING The belongings of 12 of the firefighters were destroyed.

"We're losing the battle," a weary official explained yesterday. "We're doing everything we can to fight these fires in the province but it's hopeless."

Here is the grim picture in this, the worst fire year in B.C.'s history:

Yesterday, 31 fires were put out, 65 new blazes reported.

More than 3,300 forest service and company men are fighting day and night to control the 335 fires.

$2,000,000 COSTS Fire-fighting costs since May 1 are rapidly nearing the $2,000,000 mark and are increasing by $60,000 a day.

No relief is in sight. At Butte Lake more crews were being recruited last evening and a new attempt was made to throw a fire guard around the searing flames.

NEW FIRE At Pemberton, on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway line, a new fire whipped through 1,200 acres and is still out of control, as is the four-day-old fire at Harrison which now covers 4,000 acres.

In the Vancouver district alone yesterday, 23 new fires were reported, 79 burning, and 850 men employed.

"New fires are breaking out quicker than they can be reported," said a spokesman. "We're getting two new ones every hour."

12 TIMES AS MUCH Cost of fighting the fires alone is already 12 times as much as approved for the year's total fire-fighting budget by the legislature last spring.

The heat wave has cost an estimated $26,000,000 in fire-ravaged timber, damaged crops, and lost wages. The loss may reach $40,000,000 as dried-up streams and high water temperatures threaten heavy losses to the $15,000,000 pink salmon run.

Scattered rain fell throughout the hard-hit Prince George forest district yesterday but it did little good.

FANNED BY GALE Worst blaze in the district occurred between Stuart and Trembleur Lake and, fanned by gale winds, ripped through 8,000 acres in less than five hours. Men were flown in by helicopters and others are travelling into the rugged country on tractors.

A fire 50 miles north of Prince George covers about 25,000 acres.

In the Penticton district, 15 new fires were started by lightning strikes alone.

DEFENCE MINISTER GEORGE PEARKES ... needs great, vital

Clouds Will Come —But No Rain

If clouds come can rain be far behind? "Yes," says Sid Ramsden who is pinch-hitting for regular Victoria weatherman William Mackie.

This morning will be cloudy with a few sunny patches but don't expect rain, he said.

"Some scattered showers have fallen on the northern coast of Vancouver Island but usually by the time these disturbances reach the southern parts they are so weak there's no rain," he said.

"There's always a chance of an occasional shower of course," he added a trifle hopefully.

And by mid-afternoon today the clouds should have scattered again, leaving the usual clear-blue skies.

Each Need Costs Millions

Harassed Ottawa Facing Vast Defence Spending

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is facing more major defence decisions than at any time since outbreak of the Korean War in 1950, officials said Wednesday.

Nearly every one of these decisions involves expenditure of millions of dollars. The government is expected to make up its mind on some of these problems this year.

SUMMIT HOPE

Impending huge defence outlays are one main reason why the government would like to see a fruitful East-West summit conference. Prime Minister Diefenbaker has warned that defence expenditures may attain "colossal and gigantic" proportions in the next two, three or four years unless a disarmament agreement is reached. The 1958-59 defence budget is $1,686,000,000.

URGENT NEED

Defence Minister Pearkes said before the Commons estimates committee early this month that the army's most urgent requirement "would appear to be modern equipment." He added:

"If we are to provide modern equipment for the army and the other two services—and the cost of those requirements in the foreseeable future are very heavy—then we have got to apply our money to those requirements which seem to the defence authorities the most urgent. We need a great deal of new military equipment."

MAJOR DECISIONS

Some of the major decisions facing the government:

1. Whether to order into full production the supersonic

CF-105 Arrow. Nearly $400,000,000 will have been spent on development of this plane by next March 31.

2. Whether to install Bomarc anti-aircraft missile bases and manufacture this American weapon in Canada. A single Bomarc installation costs between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000.

3. Whether to go ahead with construction of nuclear submarines in Canada. The navy would like 12. One would cost about $50,000,000.

4. Whether to order construction of a small fleet of supply ships to replenish the destroyer flotillas at sea.

5. Whether to purchase ground-to-ground and anti-tank missiles for the army.

Ex-Presidents Voted $25,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives Wednesday voted $25,000-a-year pensions for former U.S. presidents Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman. It approved $10,000 annual pensions for Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

West Can't Agree On United Stand

PARIS (Reuters)—The Western allies were unable to reach agreement Wednesday on a concerted approach to a summit conference.

After two inconclusive sessions, the 15-nation NATO permanent council called another meeting for today to continue the discussions.

Meanwhile tension was heightened by a Kremlin charge that the United States and four members of the Baghdad Pact are preparing for an attack on the new Iraq republic.

It warned that in the event of such an attack peace-loving peoples—a Soviet euphemism for the Communist bloc—"will come to the aid of the victim."

From Damascus came a report that Turkish soldiers penetrated Syrian territory and exchanged fire with Syrian border guards. One hour after the skirmish, Turkish troops began taking position in hills commanding the border.

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Smith said

Gas Explosion Injures 15

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Liquid gas escaping from a delivery tank-truck exploded in a densely-populated section of downtown Augusta yesterday, demolishing six frame houses and injuring 15 persons, one seriously.

A few of the victims were struck by flying debris and several were badly burned, but most of them were suffering from shock.

Esquimalt Votes Today

Reeve A. C. Wurtele last night urged residents of Esquimalt to vote today in the by-election to fill the council vacancy caused by the recent death of Coun. J. E. Carey.

Candidates are: Mrs. F. A. Browne, 1231 Bewdley.

Mrs. Annie McVie, 923 Lyall.

Voting will be held between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. at the municipal hall and at 855 Craigflower.

Wind Bests Blimp

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (UPI)—A navy blimp attempting a record 12-day flight to the Arctic was blown back into the United States yesterday.

The navy at South Weymouth naval air station said the 343-foot lighter-than-air ZBG-2 reached Kingston, Ont. at 2:15 p.m. EDT but high winds forced it to turn back. It was ordered to land at Akron, Ohio, where it was built.

The blimp's original takeoff here was delayed by dense fog Sunday night. When the blimp did get into the air, more fog forced it back.

Relive Royal Tour In Colonist 'Album'

Readers of The Daily Colonist will receive a bonus Friday morning: an eight-page souvenir album of pictures of Princess Margaret's visit to Victoria and the rest of B.C.

The beautiful "album", excellent to keep or to send to relatives and friends, appears in the regular paper.

The edition is expected to be in very great demand. By ordering in advance from neighborhood Colonist dealers, readers can be sure of obtaining as many copies as they want.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

VICTORIA has no Better Business Bureau to protect people against swindlers and shady merchants. This community of 125,000 is too cheap to bother with such protection.

Those in authority feel that it is thrifter to let people be cheated out of $50,000 or $500,000 a year than to spend one-tenth of that amount on prevention.

That's no surprise. Victoria is eccentric in several ways. We need more light industry. Maybe the Chamber of Commerce is hoping to persuade swindlers to make their head-

Five Pitfalls Listed

In an article called "Five Swindles to Watch Out For," the Digest tips off its 10,000,000-odd readers about the following:

1. Blank contracts. In the sale of cars, home appliances, other goods, shysters get customers to sign a blank contract, then add extras that raise the price that has been orally agreed on. The plan is often worked on eager car buyers on Saturdays. The salesman tells the client that the secretary or the boss has left the office; get a signature on a blank contract. When the customer reads the quarters here. With so many retired people to prey upon, they should find the pickings good.

The Reader's Digest, in its August number, takes over one of the jobs of a Better Business Bureau—the job of warning people about the ways that sharpies can separate citizens from their dollars.

Gyp Study Courses

3. Gyp home-study courses. "The youth who signs up, usually an ambitious boy or girl from a low-income family, loses money, time and hope." There are good correspondence schools but last year the U.S. Federal Trade Commission cracked down on 19 correspondence organizations, ordered them to stop making false claims. Samples: a $205 correspondence course in how to be an airline hostess; no record of any graduate being hired by a commercial airline. A jet-engine course which jet manufacturers swear is worthless.

4. Business opportunity swindles. The grifter advertises for "supervisor" or "route manager," promises $300 a month for 10 hours' work a week. The promoters are only selling vending machines or merchandise racks at three to four times their fair price. Some investors can't find locations for their machines. One group sold 118 nut-vending machines for $40.

5. Medical and cosmetic frauds. Samples: Sometimes dangerous reducing pills which may cause illness or death.

"All of us," says Don Wharton, author of the Digest article, have an obligation to report any instance of attempted fraud or deception to Better Business Bureaus and local Chamber of Commerce."

Let's Turn Tables

Except in Victoria, of course. We have no Better Business Bureau, and the Chamber of Commerce doesn't handle such work.

However, Better Business Bureaus and chambers of commerce do not provide an ideal anti-fraud squad. They are run by merchants, some of whom may be tempted to be indulgent to their unethical brethren—even though they are strictly honest themselves, of course.

What we really need is a Better Business Bureau run by consumers. Businessmen have credit bureaus to keep tabs on the financial standing of customers. One of these days customers might turn the tables and set up an organization that keeps tabs on the reliability of business houses.

A Business Rating Bureau would check the honesty of every firm in town, from reports provided by consumers and its own trained staff. It would keep confidential files on all stores, rating them on a scale from A to Z.

The only organization that I can think of that is rich enough and fearless enough to tackle such a job is a credit union. And one day, I hope, a credit union will take up the challenge.

Honest firms will welcome an appraisal service of this kind. But the cries of pain from the twisters and grifters will be heart rending.

U.S. Calls Off Blast As Propaganda Dud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States called off its planned show-the-world test of a "clean" H-bomb because the explosion was shaping up as a propaganda dud, informed sources said yesterday.

There was even a possibility, according to government authorities, that the public shot could have backfired spectacularly against the United States in world public opinion.

Award Less Than Half Of Rail Union Demand

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal conciliation board has proposed considerably less than half of what labor wants in the big dispute between the railways and their 130,000 non-operating employees.

The majority report of the three-man board—not binding on the disputants—suggested Wednesday they should accept wage concessions worth about $38,000,000 a year. They had asked for $100,000,000-plus. The companies had offered nothing.

NO INDICATION

Whether either the companies or the 15 unions representing non-operating workers would accept the three-man board's recommendations was not indicated at the moment.

Officers of the companies were expected to meet at Montreal today.

It was reported there would be an Aug. 14 meeting at Montreal of the union negotiating committee under negotiating chief Frank H. Hall, now in Europe.

Also, there was a hastily-convened meeting due in the next couple of days of negotiators for the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, largest of the 15 negotiating unions.

While no official spokesman would talk for either the companies or the unions, the union official indicated unhappiness with the report despite the fact it had been signed by on the board, in agreement with Mr. Justice H. F. Thomson of Regina, chairman.

The minority report, by company nominee Philip Vineberg, said there should be no wage increase.

Main recommendations of the majority report:

1. A wage increase of four cents an hour retroactive to on a full year.
2. Three per cent effective next Sept. 1, worth $13,542,000 a year.
3. Three per cent effective next April 1, also worth $13,542,000 a year.

Water Pollution Rising

Filth Menaces Health

Close the Beaches Vancouver Urged

VANCOUVER (CP)—The city's beaches were termed "filthy" and "potentially dangerous" yesterday, and provincial authorities warned they should be closed.

"No city should allow its beaches to remain in the filthy condition our beaches are in now," said George Elliot, deputy provincial health officer.

"They should be closed immediately," he said. "The water pollution is potentially dangerous. There is no immediate danger of any epidemics, but we are getting to the stage where there is liable to be an outbreak any time."

Reginald Bowering, secretary of the pollution control board, an agency of the department of health, said water pollution was at a danger level in more than half of the latest tests made.

He suggested that beaches here be closed until the city agreed that pollution is often at the danger level and becoming higher.

"It is bound to cause an epidemic eventually," he said, "but I think the beaches are safe for a year or two yet."

Aldermen Evelyn Caldwell, Tom Alsbury and Reg Atherton said they will call for a full discussion of the matter at the next meeting—possibly a special session—of city council.

Aldermen Caldwell and Alsbury said the beaches should be closed immediately if there is the slightest danger to health.

He Lived To Perish

SPOKANE (AP)—Two weeks ago Andrew W. Wheeler spent a harrowing night atop his partially submerged auto after it plunged into the Spokane River here.

Throughout that night the 57-year-old Spokane man fought death, chafing his arms and legs raw while attempting to scale a near vertical bank.

After he was finally rescued, he fought death for two more weeks. But it was in vain. He died Tuesday night.

A Question of Economics

NOW that the B.C. Electric has formally applied to the Public Utilities Commission for increases in fares for bus transportation in Greater Victoria there is certain to be an anguished outcry from sections of the public. The increases sought are substantial, and to many people they would, if approved, cause hardship. There can be no doubt about that.

But what else can the public expect? Or organized labor; or even the municipalities, for that matter? There hasn't been an increase in bus fares in Victoria since 1952, and then only a nominal one. There have, however, been many increases in wage scales in all phases of the company's operations; and they have been anything but nominal. If every renewal of a labor contract is to be made only at the cost of greatly increased wages, plus fringe benefits which at times have added almost as much to the cost of service as the wage boosts themselves, then something has got to crack.

Labor cannot go on forever pushing up wage rates and then demand that prices remain static. Transportation is a commodity like anything else, and if everything entering into the production of it goes up in price it's inevitable that the price the customer has to pay will go up eventually.

None of this is written in support of the B.C. Electric's application. The company will have to prove that the circumstances of its operation warrant an increase in fares and that the operations themselves are efficient. Otherwise the PUC should throw out the application or modify it to fit the facts. But it doesn't make sense for anyone to oppose the application merely for the sake of opposing it or because higher bus fares would be unpleasant. This is a case purely and simply for application of economic laws rather than sentiment or hurt feelings.

If sympathy is to enter into this case then some should be spared for the users of power and light, many of whom are just as hard pressed to meet the cost of living as are the bus riders. All along the customers of the B.C. Electric's power and light division have been subsidizing, and subsidizing heavily, the people who use the buses. Figures submitted by the company, which no doubt the PUC will check carefully, show that last year the Victoria division of the B.C. transportation system ran at an operating loss of almost half a million dollars. That loss was added to the monthly bills for electricity, paid in innumerable instances by people who never use the buses. It would appear that they more than the bus riders are the ones who are entitled to protest.

The tragic aspect of this situation is, always, of course, is that the people who need the service most are the ones who can least afford higher fares: the pensioners and other retired people, the physically handicapped and those whose slender means make them dependent on the buses. They are the people who are squeezed by almost every rise in the cost of living and who are powerless to add to their own income. To them the buses are indispensable and a fare increase of three cents a trip vastly more serious than it is to others whose wages rise steadily with the years.

The Great Illusion

ONE had scarcely thought the City Hall's new pale blue was a throwback to Victorian or Old English decor. One might travel England at some length to find its equal. It has had the effect of making the tourist group of the Chamber of Commerce color conscious, however, and there is now the prospect of downtown buildings adorned with the colors of the rainbow. Presumably, that is, if the owners of the buildings don't object.

There is perhaps some confusion of thought evident. The City Hall is now likened to Disneyland, a money-maker for the American impresario of that name, yet somehow linked to the general theme of turning Victoria into a replica of Shakespeare's sceptred Isle. The idea of pseudo-Americanism is rightly enough condemned even if of necessity Canadian cities take on a North American flavor. By the same token of course pseudo-English is to be condemned also, but that aspect seems to be forgotten, overlooked, or just ignored.

One of these days perhaps the notion might gain favor that Victoria would be best portrayed by being itself, and that the future of the rising generation is not well served by "selling" it as typical of an age that is dead and buried. Actually if Victoria has no native or natural virtues to be exploited but instead must forever look for something to copy it had better go out of the tourist business altogether.

However, enthusiasm must be served and so we are promised a real "Old England Week," whatever that is. One cannot easily shunt aside the brilliance that centres on those famous crumpets, to be sold on the streets by bell-ringers, no less; nor the price markings in pounds instead of dollars. That will certainly titillate our American visitors as well as giving them mathematical headaches. One thing must not be forgotten, however, lest it spoil the whole illusion: the Highland piper at the CPR dock will have to be removed.

A Wise Precaution

PARENTS can now let their children bathe or swim at Elk and Beaver Lakes with an easier mind. Adults too can take to the water more reassured. Extra lifeguards will be provided, so that for the rest of the summer protection of this nature will be on a seven-days-a-week basis. The Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee is to be commended for making this swift decision, following previous discussion of the need that had developed.

The city parks administrator put it neatly when he said that only the "grace of God" had prevented a bathing fatality at these beaches this year. This has been so obvious it is astonishing that one alderman should want to know why the lifeguard service should be increased when there hadn't been any drownings. No drownings are wanted. It is to help prevent any such calamities that lifeguard protection is devised. Youthful lives are too valuable to be measured against municipal costs.

In this connection Oak Bay and Esquimalt should be willing to pay their share for the extra lifeguard service being provided, for children from their municipalities also frequent these two popular bathing areas. Unfortunately neither appears to show much interest in the matter. The Victoria-Saanich committee, however, is doing first things first when it pays acute regard to the safety of the young generation.

Interpreting the News

A Clouded Summit

By ED SIMON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

A WEEK ago the world suddenly caught a glimpse of the summit, its outlines fully revealed and apparently offering a short and easy ascent to aspiring climbers. Today it is rapidly disappearing behind its customary cloudcover.

The West, for better or worse, has succeeded in damping down the explosive Middle East situation, which Russia's Premier Khrushchev had seized upon as urgent grounds for an immediate meeting of chiefs of government. His bid was greeted by agreement in principle and disagreement on details of time and place.

The Russians quickly gave way to impatience and inactivity and the summit situation appeared to be rapidly getting back to normal. Western opinion, divided on the advisability of a meeting in the first place, was equally divergent in assessing the latest developments.

The prospect of a summit conference appears to arouse two persistent and contradictory illusions — that somehow it will solve all the problems threatening world peace and that somehow it will result in an all-encompassing diplomatic victory for the Russians.

To those cherishing the hope that Khrushchev, Eisenhower, Macmillan, de Gaulle and Nehru could work out all the answers, any appearance of Western delay was disastrous. To those obsessed by fear of being outmanoeuvred at the conference table, any excuse for postponing the evil day was a diplomatic triumph.

Certainly an immediate conference after the allied landings in Lebanon and Jordan would have placed the West at a disadvantage and Khrushchev was clearly eager to press home his exaggerated charge of massive Western interference in the Arabian peninsula before the shock had worn off.

But the United States has moved rapidly to tidy up the situation. A Lebanese presidential candidate has been found who appears to command the support of both government supporters and adherents of the rebel cause, offering the prospect of an early withdrawal of the U.S. Marines from the country.

And State Secretary Dulles, tacitly writing off any hope of Iraq's return to the Baghdad alliance, has assured the surviving members of continuing American support. The Baghdad Pact, in short, has become a pact without Baghdad.

Britain's position in Jordan is less fortunate. Ever since the little country acquired a segment of Palestine under the partition agreement that created the state of Israel, the Hashemite dynasty has ruled a people more loyal to the Nasser brand of Arab nationalism than to its own government.

King Hussein's call for British assistance marks the end of a year-long effort to appease anti-European sentiment by ending his ties with Britain and attempting to rule on his own. The British troops in Jordan cannot be withdrawn without sealing the doom of the man who invited them there.

Peace in the Middle East depends not so much on the global deliberations of summit conferences as upon an understanding between Arab nationalism and the West. Britain's inextricable military involvement in Jordan greatly increases the difficulties of achieving it.

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

A MAN in Cuba says, with a straight face too, that civilization is related to the consumption of sugar.

Put briefly, his thesis is that "less civilized people use less sugar." He is prejudiced, of course, because he happens to be a sugar tycoon, one of the world's merchant princes of that ilk. And I wouldn't want to believe him.

Because if I did I'd have to denigrate the intelligence of most of the ladies of my acquaintance. They follow the modern feminine trend of sugarless tea; indeed I'm told nowadays at many a pink tea—why pink, by the way?—the sugar tongs lie forlorn and unused.

But I certainly wouldn't agree—not in their presence, anyway—that they are thereby on the civilized downgrade. Dear me no, they'd never then brew me a special pot, with two lumps to match the two bags.

The man from Cuba is blethering, anyway. Cast your mind back and see if he isn't. Well no, don't, for I've been casting mine back and maybe he's got something.

The big shots of old, for instance, look as though they'd been well stuffed with sugar. There was Napoleon, with a mind like a whip-lash and a high IQ, but a paunch like a sweet factory. Below his toga Julius Caesar, an intellectual of adequate parts, seems also to have been richly enough formed; at least he didn't have the Cassius look he once complained of. And consider Henry the Eighth, whose acumen gave him six wives. He certainly was no bean pole.

If these chaps didn't take sugar they must have had a most equitable substitute.

And then too I can't forget that all the ladies I know, while maybe they don't use the sugar tongs, go for sugar in cakes in a big way. They thus keep civilization at a high peak as I'm sure the Cuban baron would agree.

On the other hand, if civilization is geared to what is mistaken but popular parlance are known as the eggheads, then his argument suffers dilution. Sugar always does disappear when diluted.

I suppose there are some fat poets around but if you summon the image of one what you see in front of your eyes is a slim, ascetic chap who decidedly never tasted, say, Turkish delight. Except maybe on paper.

The school teachers I know, too, professors and the like, aren't the chubby, sugary type, although I dare say you can find the odd roly-poly among them. It's a fact though that the intellectual is more apt to look like he's fuller of vegetables than sugar, a la Bernard Shaw. Brains are not presumed to be allied with brawn; perhaps this is a careful dispensation of providence.

Conversely, nevertheless, it can't be denied that as nations became what is called civilized, sugar, in the form of sweetness of appetite and living, was their undoing. Think of today if you don't believe me. The fannies are all having their troubles.

Summing it all up, however, I am left with a personal conclusion. I like my sugar too yet I retain a lean Cassius look. Is that just mere chance or does it symbolize an even balance?

Anyway the Cuban gentleman was just giving voice to a commercial, so let's pay no more attention.

Reports from Ottawa

IN the Senate the Liberals whisper and the Tories shout to keep the wheels of government turning.

Literally. Most times bills go through the Senate with little evidence of a partisan split. But the other day the senators had a real vote. And what happened left Liberal leader Ross Macdonald apologetic, and a number of his followers apologetic.

The cause of the vote was a motion by Liberal Senator Jean-François Pouliot—in other days the Commons' stormy petrel from Temiscouata. It was seconded by Liberal Dave Croll, another former Commons member with a reputation for saying what he thinks, and damn the party whip.

The motion was to refer back to committee a government bill to amend the Trust Companies Act. Croll had said the bill appeared "rigged," and he spoke of powerful lobbies pulling strings. Pouliot had described the bill as "legislation at its worst." Senator Chubby Power, the former Liberal air minister, had condemned it. Senator Arthur W. Roebuck, a former Liberal attorney-general of Ontario, had criticized it. Senator Neil McLean, a New Brunswick Liberal, had said it would enable trust companies to publish false balance sheets.

In face of this barrage, it seemed the least the senators could do was send the bill back to committee for another look-see.

Speaker Mark Drouin put the motion to the senators and asked those in favor to rise. Opposition leader Macdonald, whose Liberals outnumber the government's Tory senators by nearly three to one, jumped up in agitation. Nobody had asked for a recorded vote, he protested.

In that case, Drouin replied, the motion carries.

Macdonald appeared dismayed. He hurriedly marshaled an argument together; the rule was that Drouin had to call for a voice vote first. Afterwards, if at least two senators requested it, he could call for a recorded vote. But, Macdonald emphasized, nobody had asked for a recorded vote.

This ludicrous exchange stemmed from the fact that the Liberals were obviously going to win the vote—and the Liberal leader wanted to lose it. He didn't want to defeat the government.

The government leader, Senator Walter M. Aseltine, moved in to get Macdonald off the hook. Let's vote all over again, he suggested. So the Speaker put the question a second time. Some Liberals kept silent. Others voted "aye" sotto voce. But the Tory senators shouted their "nays."

Drouin declared the motion lost. Two Liberals jumped up to force a recorded vote, but Drouin did not recognize them. He may not even have noticed them. Instead, he went on to call for "ayes" and "nays" on the bill itself.

Liberal leader Macdonald practically stumbled over himself to cry "Carried!"

Sharp old Chubby Power, who quit Mackenzie King's cabinet over conscription, roared an angry, "No!"

"On division," said Senator Roebuck, placatingly.

Speaker Drouin: "Motion carried, on division."

Anger, disgust, bitterness and frustration swept the Liberal ranks. Senator A. C. Taylor of New Brunswick complained that, "We should have sent that bill back to committee. Even though we didn't change a comma in it, we should have examined it again, so the people would know we're doing our job."

Macdonald's policy of refusing to defeat the Tory minority is based on realization that the Conservatives now represent the popular majority in the country. It is not fitting, he believes, for the Liberal majority in the Senate to frustrate the people's will.

But is it fitting for Liberal senators to pass legislation which they believe is bad?

Pruning Christmas Trees

By GREGORY CLARK

THIS is a funny time to be thinking of Christmas trees. Yet thousands of farmers in all parts of Canada where Christmas tree plantations are a lively and sometimes big business are right now out in the blazing sun, like mad dogs or Englishmen, doing the pruning that will decide whether you are going to get a lopsided, scrawny looking tree or a pretty pyramid of green that will stand up like a Christmas instead of falling all over the living room next December.

The Scotch pine has risen by leaps and bounds into the forefront of the Christmas tree market, largely because it is a rapid grower in plantations and, with a little manicuring, takes on a very Christmassy build. Millions of wild trees, of course, especially spruce, balsam and firs are harvested in Canada's forests each fall, the handsomest ones being cut and the misshapen and scrawny ones left to carry on the forests.

For that reason, governments with an eye to the future of the woods are encouraging farmers, particularly in areas where there are large patches of land poor for other agriculture, to make plantations. And, somewhat on the principle of the agricultural representatives who tour the counties, foresters are now on the road demonstrating to plantation owners the simplest and most economical methods of pruning and harvesting the tree crop.

It takes about 10 minutes to prune a tree. That is six trees an hour. In the midsummer sun. That is why Christmas trees cost more than a bunch of daisies.

Troops in the Middle East

By SIR ALEC KIRKBRIDE

THE motives behind the despatch of United States and British forces to Lebanon and Jordan are being misrepresented widely by various Middle East authorities, and it will be beneficial to review once again the considerations which caused the two governments to act as they did.

The forces in question were moved in response to requests for help from the constitutional governments of Lebanon and Jordan and there is nothing illegal or unusual in friendly governments responding to appeals of this kind. Both the governments of the United Kingdom and the United States of America have given repeated assurances that these moves are of a temporary nature, designed only to preserve the independence of two small states whose very existences were threatened by subversive movements organized and supported by the governments of other Arab countries. There is ample evidence of an irrefutable character available now to demonstrate the real nature of these threats.

Suggestions have been made to the effect that these troop movements are preliminaries to an attempt to reverse what has happened in Iraq during the past few days. The facts of the position in Iraq hardly support such a theory.

However, much as we may deplore the manner in which the revolution in Iraq was accomplished, and much as we may mourn our friends who lost their lives during the first day of the revolt, the fact remains that all available evidence shows that the new regime is in effective control of the country and of its armed forces.

It is one thing to intervene in Lebanon and Jordan at the urgent demand of the constitutional authorities of those countries, but it would be something very different to attempt to interfere in Iraq where the majority of the population appears to be prepared to accept the new form of government.

In other words the nature of the new regime in Iraq now appears to be a matter which the Iraqis must decide for themselves.

It is especially true that the United Kingdom possesses very considerable commercial interests in Iraq and the British peoples are naturally deeply concerned in the preservation of those interests. It is satisfactory to be able to record here that, up to date, the actions of the new authorities in Iraq in regard to the safeguarding of oil installations and those employed in them and in assuring the freedom and safety of the foreign business and banking concerns operating in that country, have conformed with the assurances which they made on the subject of the honoring of obligations the day after they seized power.

The admirable progress which has been made in Iraq in developing the natural resources of that country owes much to the technical and financial assistance which has been offered by British commercial bodies and, while political changes are perfectly natural from time to time, there is no reason whatsoever why they should disturb such an economic partnership which has been equally profitable to both sides in the past.

The Arabs of all people must not blame the British government for standing by their friends—particularly those with whom there exist treaty relations. But the fact that we honor our international obligations to some Arabs does not mean that we do not wish to live on amicable terms with the rest of the Arab world. On the contrary, we are anxious to be friends with all Arabs.

There is sufficient realization amongst our leaders that the Arabs are now an independent sovereign people with whom affairs must be conducted on a basis of equality.

The Arabs on their part should understand that, whatever may have happened in the past, the British government and people do not wish to dominate. Our record in the matter of recognizing the independence of peoples who used to form part of our Empire should be sufficient proof of that fact.

They Can't Vote

ANIMALS can feel pain as keenly as human beings and are equally prey to fear and terror. But they can't speak or vote, and therefore have no influence in Congress.

Which is about the only available explanation why the Humane Slaughter Bill, after passing the House, has been put on ice by the Senate agriculture committee on the flimsy pretext that it requires "further study" of slaughtering procedures.

U.K. Health Service

In reply to the letter by E. N. Screech (Colonist, July 29) on the U.K. Health Service, and as another who has experienced this system both as a citizen and as a health service worker, may I make the following observations:

1. In spite of the increased number of non-medical staff in British hospitals (and this increase is far smaller than popularly believed in relation to the tremendous increase in the volume of work now being performed, there is no doubt whatever that all staffs in British hospitals are smaller in number than in this country, and the volume of paper work certainly no greater.

2. The standard of treatment available to an individual in the higher-income bracket is at least as good as anywhere else.

3. Full services are available to all irrespective of one's ability or, as in so many cases, inability to pay—hence no crippling bills to be paid off for months and years to come.

4. There are no constant appeals to charity. In order to help at least a few of the many who need medical care but who are unable to afford it.

5. If the equitable system of taxation in operation is not the best form of insurance to provide essential health services for all, I am at a loss to know what is!

May I add that the foregoing observations are not intended in any way as criticism of Canadian hospitals and doctors, but simply in defence of a good and practical though naturally not perfect health system.

Mayor's Thanks

May I on behalf of our citizens express thanks to the people of Sidney, to Mr. and Mrs. Ian Ross and to many of our own citizens who so generously provided to the best of their ability accommodation for the tourists who were delayed in getting away from the Island during the recent strike.

It was an unfortunate situation which developed and I am sure that many of our visitors who would have gone home very much dissatisfied, returned home with a high opinion of the hospitality of the people both here and in the neighboring municipalities.

It is acts of kindness of this nature that leave a lasting impression on strangers who through no fault of their own are placed in a difficult situation.

It is another example of what Dick Bailey stated at the ceremony in Beacon Hill Park on Sunday that "Victoria is loaded with people who devote a great deal of time and energy to various kinds of community service."

P. B. SCURRAH,
Mayor.

Broken Promises

In the Colonist of July 29 is a headline which reads, "Soot Howls Jolts City into Action." I would say it is high time the city went into action on this question.

From time to time over a period of six or seven years this soot menace has been called to the attention of the city both privately and by petition, but no action was ever taken; this in spite of many promises to do something.

Those living on Gorge Road East, Garbally, Bridge, Rock Bay, Sumas and Dunedin have been particularly menaced. Let us hope this is more than talk and another stall to keep the people from more protests. Surely we can expect some definite action.

However, he said Wednesday in reply to a Commons question by Stuart Fleming (PC, Okanagan-Revelstoke) that the federal government can intervene only at the request of the province and "none has been received."

Mr. Fleming had referred to acts of violence in the last 48 hours in which the tracks of the CNR were attacked for the first time.

U.K. Removes Capital Curb

LONDON (Reuters) — The treasury Wednesday removed a restriction on the investment of foreign capital in Britain.

Until now, the treasury could turn down new enterprises financed by foreign capital if it decided they were prejudicial to the British economy.

The president could assume emergency powers to safeguard the independence of the nation, a clause critics say could lead to dictatorship.

The ordinary French citizen appears ready to vote for the constitution because they have confidence in de Gaulle and his declared objective of ensuring stronger and more stable government, and they are disgusted with the parliamentarians for the middle in North Africa and instability at home.

The Communists, left-wing Socialists and some self-styled anti-Fascist groups are attacking the proposed constitution because it cuts down the powers of parliament and because, they say, it opens the way to dictatorship.

TOO MUCH POWER

Some other politicians favoring constitutional reforms attacked the de Gaulle proposals because they give too much power to the president instead of the premier and his cabinet.

Under the proposed constitution, the French president would be able to name a premier without consulting party leaders, and to dissolve parliament.

Harrison Denies Royal Tour Stories

'We Didn't Speed', Say RCMP 'Clockers Just Catching Up'

Cars Did 'Safe 60' On Fraser Valley Run

The RCMP yesterday denied reports that Princess Margaret was driven through the Fraser Valley last week at speeds up to 85 miles an hour.

But reporters, who were following closely behind the cavalcade, stuck to their stories that they had clocked the Royal tour cars at speeds up to 85 miles an hour. The stories appeared in virtually every Canadian newspaper.

The RCMP has been criticized in the last few days for permitting the cavalcade to travel at such high speed.

A statement issued yesterday by the RCMP called the reporters' versions "sensational, but inaccurate," and then added:

"The car in which Her Royal Highness was riding at the head of the cavalcade did not exceed 60 miles per hour, and then only for a short time on a stretch of road, where there were no spectators. Traffic had been cleared and the cavalcade was under motorcycle and police escort.

'SAFE SPEED'

"Under these conditions 60 miles per hour was considered a safe speed for the very short time during which it was maintained. The cavalcade was behind schedule and it was felt that it should be moved as quickly as safely would permit, in order to avoid having crowds ahead wait longer than necessary."

The statement was issued over the name of C. W. Harrison, assistant commissioner, commanding E Division, British Columbia.

TO CHILLIWACK

Newspaper reports of the valley tour last Thursday said the royal cavalcade sped along at 85 miles an hour on one stretch of the road to Chilliwack, where Princess Margaret visited an army camp.

B.C.'s legal speed limit is 50 miles an hour. The RCMP is responsible for policing the province's highways.

"FALLING BEHIND"
The police statement asserted also that:

"Representatives of the press were riding in vehicles well behind the cavalcade. It may be that they found themselves falling behind, and, in order to close the gap, travelled at excessive and dangerous speeds. It is regretted if the gentlemen of the press considered it necessary to attain such dangerous speeds and this force must accept some responsibility."

Auditor Suggested Changes

'Schultz Books Incorrect'

Defendant 'Ruined Man'
Since Charges Laid

VANCOUVER (CP)—An auditor told the Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial jury yesterday that he suggested corrections in the books of one of the accused companies because he felt there were incorrect entries.

Chartered accountant Bruce Sangster, auditor of the books of the C. D. Schultz timber consultant firm, was called by Schultz counsel Alfred Bull to rebut Crown charges that the company records were falsified to cover up certain transactions.

FIRST WITNESS

He was the first witness for Charles D. Schultz and his firm in the case which revolves around former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers. The Crown alleges a conspiracy to bribe the former minister for government timber licences and has also charged H. W. Gray, John Gray, Pacific Coast Services Limited, Evergreen Lumber Sales and B.C. Forest Products.

Sangster said he was called in February, 1955, by Charles Schultz and asked to examine how entries were recorded in the firm's books with respect to dealings with Pacific Coast Services and with companies for whom Schultz was doing work in connection with government timber licences.

INCORRECT ENTRIES
The witness said at that time the books were in charge of former Schultz accountant George Davenport — since a crown witness in the case. He said his examination showed what he felt were incorrect entries, since they showed a connection between moneys coming from Schultz clients and moneys paid out to the Pacific firm.

Davenport, he said, had explained he put down the entries as he "understood the situation."

AGREED TO PAY
The witness quoted Charles Schultz as telling him there was no such relationship, that he had merely agreed to pay Pacific for work done for the Schultz firm.

Defence counsel Bull presented his client as a "ruined man."

Since the charges were laid against Schultz last November, the business and staff had

Shot in Heart

Ball Star
Killed
In Brawl

TUCSON, ARIZ. (UPI) — A University of Arizona baseball star was shot in the heart and killed and two other university athletes a street fight with three other youths.

Killed in the fierce fight was James L. (Squeaky) McConnell, 20. Wounded were his companions, Lionel Romero, 20 and Michael Longo, 20.

The fight grew out of an exchange of wisecracks between the athletes, in one car, and the other three: Yoy Mohray, 23; his brother, Roger, 17, and Reginald Smith, 20.

"They challenged us to a fight," said the elder Mohray, but "we refused." Then McConnell, Romero and Longo dragged Smith from the Mohray car and started beating him, Mohray said.

Mohray would not say who fired the shots. He said a .22 calibre pistol and a .44 calibre magnum pistol were in his car.

Buck Bus-Fare Hike
CCFer Urges Public

VANCOUVER (CP)—Arthur J. Turner, CCF MLA for Vancouver East, Wednesday attacked the B.C. Electric application for higher bus fares and appealed to the public to oppose the boost and "unite in a demand for public ownership of transportation and power facilities."

Bird Fights Cat
To Protect Nest

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—"Help!" cried the lady's voice over the police department phone. "There's a vicious bird at my back door. He's fighting my cat!"

Sergeant George Apple sent out the dog catcher who reported that mother mockingbird, with a nest of babies in nearby shrubbery, was diving-bombing everything and everybody that stepped out the back door.

The dog catcher, the lady and the cat all decided to use the front door.

London Dips Flags For Dead Faisal

LONDON (AP)—A memorial service for King Faisal II of Iraq was held yesterday in a little 16th-century chapel in the heart of London.

British friends of the slain king chose the Queen's Chapel of the Savoy because the late King George VI placed it at the disposal of the Royal Victorian Order. King Faisal was an honorary knight grand cross of the order.

The Queen was represented at the service by her uncle, the Duke of Gloucester. Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd represented the government.

Flags flew at half-staff all over London.

Members of London's diplomatic corps attending the service included George Drew, Canadian high commissioner in the United Kingdom.

Artificial Respiration 17 Hours

Tough Mercy Flight Ends with Failure

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 300-mile mercy flight during which two men worked continuously to give an accident victim artificial respiration ended in failure Wednesday. The man was declared dead on arrival at Vancouver General Hospital.

Logger Jack Peters suffered a skull fracture at Fort St. James Sunday when struck by a falling tree. He was driven 20 miles by car to Vanderhoof.

When his condition became worse a Pacific Western Airlines plane picked him up and flew him to Prince George, where he was to have been transferred to an RCAF Dakota equipped with an iron lung.

The RCAF plane developed engine trouble and the PWA Beaver continued on to Vancouver, arriving at 12:05 p.m. Wednesday.

A PWA spokesman said Peters was given artificial respiration continuously for 17 hours. He said a first aid attendant and a Vanderhoof ambulance driver, identified only as Isaacs and Woods, worked on the injured man without letup during the entire flight from Vanderhoof to Vancouver.

Liberal MP Makes Commons History

Massive Gambling Probe

T-Men Hunting Zeppo Marx

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Federal agents tried to locate one of the famous Marx brothers in a massive investigation of an international gambling syndicate.

Zeppo Marx was one of 170 to 180 persons for whom subpoenas were issued in a giant roundup which covered most of the United States as well as Canada and Cuba.

The witnesses were sought to testify before a grand jury investigation of a betting centre located in second-story offices in Terre Haute, Ind. The centre was raided by treasury agents last November.

Treasury agents said the centre operated on an international basis and took in millions of dollars a month.

The T-men had not been able to locate Zeppo Marx by early last night. One of his brothers, Gummo, said he was around Los Angeles three or four days ago, but he had not seen him later.

Zeppo was the youngest of the famous Marx brothers comedy team.

Don Tabbert, federal district attorney for southern Indiana, made public the names of other persons summoned as confirmation of the serving of their subpoenas was received here.

That Big Deficit One Good Reason For Car Taxes

OTTAWA (CP)—The government stood firm yesterday on its refusal to abolish or reduce the 7½ per cent excise tax on automobiles.

It also rejected a proposal by Mr. Fleming said the budget went "a considerable distance" in assisting the 3,000 municipalities in Canada by lifting the excise tax on fire trucks and other equipment that "we are very sure will be used by municipalities alone."

Tolls Announced

Ontario Plans 'Skyways'

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost announced Wednesday that three new skyways will be built over the Welland Canal as part of a $100,000,000 program for toll crossings in Ontario.

At the same time he released a schedule of tolls to be charged on the Welland crossings and the Burlington Skyway at Hamilton. 15 cents for passenger cars, or 20 for $1.

Mr. Frost announced tolls on the Fort Frances causeway and International bridges planned or under construction at Cornwall, Kingston, Rainy River, Sault Ste. Marie and Prescott.

The new skyways over the Welland Canal will be built just outside St. Catharines and in the Welland and Port Colborne areas.

"Just why," asked Harold Winch (CCF Vancouver East), "can the finance minister not expand his policy?"

"The $648,000,000 deficit for one thing," replied Finance

Mr. Fleming said the budget went "a considerable distance" in assisting the 3,000 municipalities in Canada by lifting the excise tax on fire trucks and other equipment that "we are very sure will be used by municipalities alone."

He said that if all motor vehicles purchased by municipalities were exempt, someone would also benefit from the exemption when used police cars were traded in every two years or so.

Mr. Winch said Mr. Fleming apparently is afraid the municipalities will "bootleg" equipment in order to avoid paying sales tax on resale.

EASILY DEFEATED

The big Progressive Conservative majority in the Commons easily defeated, 162 to 43, a proposal by Hubert Badanai (L-Fort Williams) asking the government to reconsider its decision to leave the excise tax on cars untouched.

Mr. Badanai said Prime Minister Diefenbaker once described the tax as "scandalous" and Mr. Fleming, when in opposition, had said the tax should be abolished.

Mr. Fleming replied that the government had reduced the tax by 25 per cent last December, by cutting it from 10 to 7½ per cent.

Six lifeguards, four doctors and eight nurses watched over the baptismal scene. Three men were treated for injured feet, two children for bloody noses and one man for irregular heart action as he emerged from the water.

Ailing U.S. Railroads Get $500,000,000 Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress gave final approval yesterday to compromise legislation to provide a $500,000,000 loan program and other economic relief for financially-ailing U.S. railroads.

The measure, which now goes to President Eisenhower to be signed into law, was hammered out by House and Senate members last week.

More Than Requested

Senate Approves Huge Defence Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate gave its swift and overwhelming approval last night to a record $10,032,746,000 peacetime defence money bill carrying $1,245,776,000 more than President Eisenhower requested.

The extra funds, added by the Senate appropriations committee, were designed to head off scheduled military manpower cuts and to strengthen the nation's fleets of hydrogen bombers and missile-firing submarines.

Senate Democrats made no further effort to increase the bill, although several were openly critical of the administration's defence effort. Republicans said voting more money might have been an invitation to Pentagon waste.

There were signs, however, that the President would defy the lawmakers and impound at least part of the extra funds. Defence Secretary Neil H. McElroy said during hearings on the measure that the administration would not necessarily spend the extra sums.

In addition to maintaining present military manpower levels, the extra money was earmarked for 13 more B-52 bombers, 30 jet tankers for aerial refuelling, four more Polaris-firing submarines, $140,000,000 worth of troop carriers and two more amphibious assault ships equipped to land Marines by helicopter.

Just before the final vote, the Senate shouted approval of three amendments to block the president's planned slashes in military strength. They would provide for an army of 900,000 men, 200,000 Marines and a 300,000-man army reserve. The bill already set National Guard strength at 400,000 men.

Also approved was an amendment by Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland of California restoring $10,246,000 for medical care of military dependents seeking treatment from civilian doctors in civilian hospitals.

Space Agency To Have Big Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower asked Congress yesterday for a $125,000,000 in additional funds for the new agency which will carry out a civilian-directed program in the conquest of space.

At the same time, the White House said the defence department will transfer to the agency $17,000,000 appropriated earlier for non-military space programs.

Eisenhower sent the supplemental appropriations measure to Congress less than 24 hours after signing into law legislation establishing the new agency—the National Aeronautics and Space Administration—to supervise the peaceful space efforts. The president said the measure was an "historic step" pledged to "peaceful purposes" for the benefit of all mankind.

Auto Plants Threatened With Strikes

DETROIT (CP)—The international executive board of the United Auto Workers has been asked by negotiating teams at the car industry's big three to authorize strikes at U.S. auto plants.

The board's decision will be made Aug. 8 with presentation of the decision to the union's national council two days later. Approval of a strike is expected.

All food stores claim low prices, and advertise "specials" to back up their claim. But, Mrs. Homemaker, you can't feed your family on "specials" alone. They represent only a few of the hundreds of food items you buy over a period of time. That's why we say, "Compare ALL prices."

To make your comparison easier, we've listed in this ad numerous prices. Check them against what you would pay elsewhere. See for yourself how you can save at SAFEGWAY where prices are right—right down the line.

Even small differences in prices item by item add up to big savings on your total food bill.

Irish Lace Salmonbellies; Playoff Picture Brightens

By JIM TANG

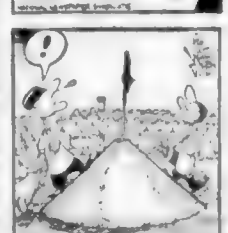

Victoria Shamrocks will be in the Inter-City Lacrosse League playoffs if they can win two of their remaining six games—if the two victories come in the three games they have left with Nanaimo Timbermen.

Also on the bright side was the play of Danny Timmerman, who is competing the season with the Shamrocks and who could be a factor in the playoffs. Timmerman has been a consistent performer for the Shamrocks, and his play has been a bright spot for the team.

At the Shamrock, Stephen, who has been a consistent performer for the Shamrocks, and Timmerman, who has been a consistent performer for the Shamrocks, are the two players who are most likely to make a difference in the playoffs.

Baseball Times Changing—Dodgers Easier for Spahn

When the Dodgers play the Pirates, the Pirates will be the team that will be the easiest for Spahn to play. The Pirates are a weak team, and Spahn is a strong pitcher. Spahn is currently leading the league in wins, and he is expected to continue his strong performance.

Upward Move In MacMillan Continues

VANCOUVER — On the strength of a brighter earnings report for the third quarter of its fiscal year, the shares of MacMillan continued their upward move today.

MacMillan's third quarter earnings were 10 cents a share, compared with 8 cents a share in the same quarter of last year. The company's earnings for the first nine months of its fiscal year were 30 cents a share, compared with 25 cents a share in the same period of last year.

Coppers made some small gains in the mining market with Bethlehem at 1.09, Cowichan at 63 cents and Canam at 25 cents.

New Hamill was again active rising to a new high of 43 cents. Sheep Creek rose to 60 cents.

Oils were the weakest section of the market. Losses were recorded in Fort St. John, Canadian Atlantic, Pacific Petroleum, and Vantor.

Industrials Bounce
TORONTO (CP) — Industrials bounced back at the close to lead the stock market, narrowly ahead in moderate trading.

New Hosco remained the outstanding speculative issue, erasing Tuesday's 41-cent loss and closing up an additional three cents at $2.83. It traded 465,700 shares. Barnat was the second most active, trading 275,651 shares, up nine cents at $1.69.

Chesterfield, jumped 17 cents to 35 cents on 210,800.

Among industrials, four of the five most active issues gained while the fifth, Aluminum, was unchanged. International Nickel was the most active industrial, adding 1 1/2 at 79. Salada, Sherrill, A was ahead 1/2 at 23 1/2 and Northern Ontario Natural Gas gained 1 at 14.

British American Bank Note was the big winner of the day, gaining 13 points at 40 on one sale.

Among base metals senior mines were generally easier with changes fractional. In gold senior issues were practically unchanged but fractional losses to Hollinger and McIntyre kept the section down.

Senior oils were down among western oils. Most losses were small and many issues had cut their losses in half by the close.

Steel Stocks Soar
NEW YORK (From AP) — U.S. Steel paced a stock market advance in heavy trading.

Announcement of price increases for steel by some of the major companies as well as higher prices for steel scrap boosted steel shares from 1 to 5 points or better.

The performance inspired the rest of the list to a general improvement. But plenty of losses remained as a carryover from the market's indifferent performers earlier in the day.

Building materials, motors, chemicals and oils did well. Ralls, aided by favorable Senate action on a bill to aid the carriers, rose to a high for the year.

Studebaker Packard featured the list in turnover and moved up a fraction. General Motors, helped by a favorable income report, equalled its high. Chrysler and Ford held steady.

American sugar was active at a new low.

Strengthening in building shares reflected a record for building in June. American Radiator featured on good earnings. Elco products ran up more than a point on news it is planning to build up inventories in anticipation of increased autumn business. Consolidated Cigar set a new top in the tobacco.

Steels to record new highs included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Jones & Laughlin, Wheeling, National Universal Cycles, Allegheny Ludlum, Armco, National Malleable, Sharon, and Simonds.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trade was more or less quiet with evidence of some export interest in flax.

There were small lot sales of flax to the United Kingdom, France and Korea. Prices showed considerable hesitation in early trading but there were occasional rallies with export buying on recessions.

Oats and barley trade was mostly domestic with some evidence of export interest in barley.

Rye prices were somewhat easier with a few hedging sales and support was inclined to be thin.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: Belgium 105,000 bushels, Germany 240,000, United Kingdom 370,000, The Netherlands 105,000, Communist China 420,000, Japan 275,000, Venezuela 135,000.

Among base metals senior mines were generally easier with changes fractional. In gold senior issues were practically unchanged but fractional losses to Hollinger and McIntyre kept the section down.

Chicago (AP) — Rye and soybeans were under moderate selling pressure at times but other grains drifted along mostly within a narrow range.

Soybeans were off as much as 2 cents a bushel at times while the setback in rye ran well over a cent.

Higher steel prices affected nearly everyone some way or another.

The latest rumor is that the price of aluminum—recently reduced by 2 cents a pound by Aluminum Ltd. to meet Russian competition—is due for a hike.

So the merry-go-round proceeds. It is just a year ago since the first cracks appeared in the big 1934-37 bull market.

READY FOR UPTURN
Frank McMahon, president of Western Transmission Company, told shareholders in Calgary that the natural gas pipeline from the Peace River had been built for the future.

The line was made to carry a much larger volume than is now doing and Mr. McMahon said, "We are in a position where we can expand without undue delay or cost."

The company's aim was now to increase the market for natural gas in the west.

OIL TRAFFIC HALVED
The net profit of Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Lines Co. Ltd. in the first half of 1958 slipped to $348,000 from its record $5,629,000 of the first half of 1957.

The decline was due to loss of business. Only half as much crude oil flowed through the pipe from Alberta to the Pacific Coast than it did a year ago. This first half year's average was 90,289 barrels a day. A year ago it was 183,316.

Where's Raft Drifted?

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The Coast Guard broadcast an appeal Tuesday for ships to report the position of the raft Lehi IV if it is spotted on its drift into the Pacific.

The request was made more than two weeks after the raft was towed to sea from nearby Redondo Beach by the fishing boat Redemer of Israel.

Nothing has been heard from skipper Devere Baker and the crew of three since, although the 28-foot raft is equipped with radio.

Coast Guard officials said there were no indications that the raft was in trouble.

TOPIRAMATE (TPM) AND CARBAMAZEPINE (CBZ) have been shown to be effective in the treatment of focal-onset seizures (FOS) in children. While CBZ has been used for many years, TPM is a relatively new antiepileptic drug (AED) and its use in children is limited. The purpose of this study was to compare the efficacy and tolerability of TPM and CBZ in the treatment of FOS in children. The study was conducted in a tertiary care hospital in the United States. The study population consisted of 100 children with FOS who were treated with TPM or CBZ. The study was conducted over a period of 12 months. The results of the study showed that TPM was more effective than CBZ in the treatment of FOS in children. The side effects of TPM were also less severe than those of CBZ. The study was limited by its retrospective design and the small sample size. Further studies are needed to confirm the results of this study.

'Is City Sincere?'

Tennis Fitness Answer

By BARNEY MCKINLEY

Victoria would need a thousand tennis courts tomorrow if this city was "wise and sincere" in its desire to develop healthy youth, a veteran tennis player and teacher charged here yesterday.

The change was made at the conclusion of the 10th annual playgrounds tennis championships here in which only 60 competitors entered out of the 100 who use the playgrounds.

At least 5,000

Fast Brand, 10-year-old veteran of 10 years competitive tennis and 15 years as a tennis coach, said following the tournament "there could be at least 5,000 young tennis players in Victoria."

"But we just hope around with the idea of physical fitness programs," he stated. "Canada has the finest young men and women in the world, but we are not developing them. A few thousand spent on these youngsters would develop their potential."

PERSONAL REHABILITATION

A former president of the R.C. Tennis Association and the Victoria Tennis Club, the still active Mr. Brand took up tennis as a personal rehabilitation program after the First World War.

Since then he has taken part in hundreds of tournaments during which he won among other honors the Vancouver Island men's singles championship six times and the Victoria men's singles eight times.

THOUSANDS TAUGHT

He figures he has taught hundreds of youngsters to play the game in the past World War and is convinced a whole-hearted promotion of tennis on a national scale would go a long way to improving the physical well-being of Canadians and would be a potent weapon against juvenile delinquency.

Thousands of youngsters just miss when the parks if some money were spent on them and proper coaching given them, and the nation would benefit. The tennis expert said "A professional tennis coach could do a great deal of good in the community and get into police court."

B.C. Free of Debt By 1959—Bennett

PRINCE RUPERT (C.P.) — British Columbia next year will be the only province in America to be free of debt.

Mr. Bennett, whose cabinet had a one-day session in Prince Rupert Tuesday, said the province had reduced its debt to $10,000,000 from $101,000,000 in 1952. He predicted that would be paid out of debt by 1959.

POLICY DEFENDED
Defending the Social Credit government's policy as a means of paying off debts is the province's policy of "paying off debts by the sale of assets."

He said the $100,000,000 debt was reduced to $10,000,000 by the sale of assets. He said the province had a surplus of $10,000,000 in 1957.

Killer Cancels Weeds

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

In yesterday's column we were discussing the summer weeds of lawns, and in giving you the formula for a summer tonic I pointed out that a thick, healthy sward of grass is your best protection against weeds, moss and other invaders. Despite our best intentions, however, these pests insist on coming in, and must be dealt with by chemical means.

It is well known that the most effective weed killers do not have the slightest effect upon it. The trick here is to use a packet of Crab Grass Killer, dissolve it in water and sprinkle the patches of chickweed. This chemical does not give a quick knockdown, and it takes about a week before the chickweed turns brown and dies. But by the time the grass is up on the 12th day, the effect of the brown patches of dead chickweed.

It is a good idea to use a packet of Crab Grass Killer in the autumn.

make sure you get the right thing. There is another chemical called Crab Grass Killer which is a stronger chemical, but this is only for use on vacant ground and should not be used on lawns.

The Crab Grass Killer is dissolved in water at the rate of two table spoons to a standard six quart. Water is then sprayed on in sufficient quantity to keep the grass wet.

It is a good idea to use a packet of Crab Grass Killer in the autumn.

Passes Taken At Men

PARIS (WNS) — Girls make passes at guys who wear glasses—if the guys are classically glassed in Paris' newest fashion monacles.
Well-monocled French sports

"But eventually," he insists, "you hardly realize it's there. One of my friends refuses to remove his even to bathe. I was going to wear it to bed, Mistakenly regarded as a symbol of Prussianism, monocle fell out of favor during First World War and never regained their former popularity. But now Frenchmen are discovering that there is nothing wrong with monocles.

"Look how suavely brute makes me look," said Mr. veque, with a grin that would have sent his monocle crashing if he hadn't deftly rescued it the nick of time.

eyeball he suggested a visit to the optical firm that made him. Sure enough, French technicians are dusting off stock of single eyepieces and putting them on display again.

"We're selling a couple dozen a month, these days,"

"Even a woman came in to buy one recently. She said

The monocle magnate admitted that few of the men buying eyepieces really needed them. But, he said, for

That was why monocles invented back in the 18th tury, and were later adopted by European aristocrats who regarded two-eyed jobs as too middle class.

'Not the $3.50—The Principle'

Widow, 82, Conquers Razor-Wielding Bandit

NEW YORK (AP)—It was not the money but the principle of the thing that caused Mrs. Fleurette Greber, an 82-year-old fighting lady, to throw her Sunday punch Tuesday.

The arena for this female David's clash with a modern Goliath was the second-floor hallway outside her Manhattan apartment.

Mrs. Greber stands 5-foot-5 and weighs in at 103. Her opponent was a 170-pound six-footer in his 20s. Further tipping the balance in his favor was one razor—sharp.

"Give me your pocket-book," he snapped, waving the razor at her.

The bag contained only $3.50, but Mrs. Greber didn't like his manners.

"I will not, young man," she said.

He grabbed for the pocket-book. Mrs. Greber uncorked

Daughter of Pioneer

Hughes Funeral Set for Friday

Funeral services for Margaret Hughes, youngest daughter of the late William and Margaret Thomson, who settled in West Saanich in 1858, will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at St. Stephen's Church, Mt. Newton Crossroad. Archdeacon A. E. del. Nunn will officiate. Cremation will follow. Hayward's Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Hughes, who died Monday at Langford, was the last of 13 children of William and Margaret Thomson. She was born at "Bannockburn," the famous home built by her father in 1855.

More than 150 descendants of the pioneer couple gathered at "Bannockburn" in 1955, with Mrs. Hughes as hostess, to mark the arrival of her father on Saanich Peninsula. Mr. Thomson was a ship's carpenter who had come ashore from a wreck up the west coast of Vancouver Island. After a period as a slave among the Indians, he was traded for seven blankets to white officials at Fort Victoria and released.

Mrs. Hughes spent her childhood and young womanhood in the Saanich home established by her father, and later she returned as a bride to live there until shortly before her death.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. W. D. Evans of Vancouver, Mrs. Hughes was predeceased by her husband, Capt. Harry Hughes.

Hoaxed Hospital Won't Prosecute

VANCOUVER (CP)—A newspaper reporter who posed as a doctor in St. Paul's Hospital here for 23 days attended five births in the delivery room, but performed only two deliveries, under supervision, hospital authorities reported yesterday. Jack Brett, now a reporter on the Prince George Citizen, has confirmed he was an intern in the hospital last April. He went under the name of Dr. Jack Harris.

Brett was suspended when his claims to medical qualification failed to "check out."

The 26-year-old reporter said in an interview in Prince George he worked at St. Paul's to gather material for a magazine article "to spotlight for public information just how difficult it is for a person to attain so responsible a position without any more than an intensive interest in the field."

Hospital authorities are investigating and will issue a report, but, Dr. Jackson says, no prosecution is planned.

A new system of checking credentials will be established at the hospital.

No Distortion In Showing By Chanel

PARIS (UPI)—The inimitable Coco Chanel joined fellow Parisian dressmakers yesterday in playing curves straight.

The lady who made skirts and sweaters the toast of two continents watched the International Press express approval at seeing waists, busts and hips where they should be.

There was nothing distorted about her treatment of the feminine figure for fall on this second day of Paris fashion week.

Seventyish Chanel, who watched her collection from the top of a circular staircase, wearing one of her own jersey suits, had said she would never distort the lines of the female form. She didn't.

Neither did Pierre Balmain or Jacques Heim show showed their collections earlier in the day.

So far the consensus among the designers is that the sack is strictly for potato pickers and the trapeze line for circus.

TORONTO (CP)—Two young housewives and a bachelor have teamed up to publish Toronto's first French-language newspaper—tabloid-size monthly, Les Nouvelles Françaises.
